FRESH START?

Lakeland Dairies is a leading Irish and international success story. We are a major dairy processing company with annual revenues of over 1.9 billion.

With innovation and excellence in all aspects of milk processing, the use of advanced production technologies, large scale automated facilities and a global logistics expertise, we have established our reputation internationally as a supplier of the highest quality dairy products.

We offer some 240 dairy products in over 80 countries worldwide, and we export over 90% of our entire production to global markets. And apart from that, we are a great place to work!

Why we want Graduates like you

The industry leading success of Lakeland Dairies centres around the quality and skills of our people. We have an excellent workforce with strong business capability, R&D skills, technical expertise and experience.

We are in a competitive position to respond rapidly to current and emerging customer needs on a global basis. Our organisation provides a working environment full of challenge and opportunity for new graduates embarking on the first steps of a bright new career. We want to enhance our team with talented colleagues to sustain our continuing progress and growth. We invite applications from graduates of Food Science, Human Nutrition, Information Technology, Manufacturing and Process Engineering, Agri Science and Business disciplines.

Whether you want to become a future business leader or gain valuable experience in your area of expertise, our graduate programme is designed to help you build the skills and capabilities that you need.

Your Graduate Programme

The Lakeland Dairies Graduate Programme is specifically structured to provide you with the opportunity to enhance and develop your skills over a two year period.

During this time, you will complete rotations in appropriate functions and departments within the company. In parallel with this, you will complete a Diploma in Management.

Throughout the programme, you will be assigned a mentor within the relevant departments for support and advice. You will also have ongoing support and assistance from the Graduate Programme Co-ordinator to review and discuss your progress.

We are currently inviting applications from graduates of Food Science, Human Nutrition, Information Technology, Manufacturing and Process Engineering, Agri Science and Business disciplines.

THE IDEAL GRADUATE WILL:

- Have an honours degree
- Show a high record of achievement
- Be an ambitious, dedicated and highly motivated person
- Be able to work as part of a team and also on their own initiative
- Enjoy challenge as much as success
- Be organised and structured in their work and capable of on-time delivery

WHAT WE OFFER YOU

- A two year programme
- External management training
- Competitive salary package
- A one-to-one mentor
- Exciting career prospects
- Fun and challenges along the way
